

The scene is set in Jake's bookshop, where he spends most of his time surrounded by old novels and a quiet atmosphere.

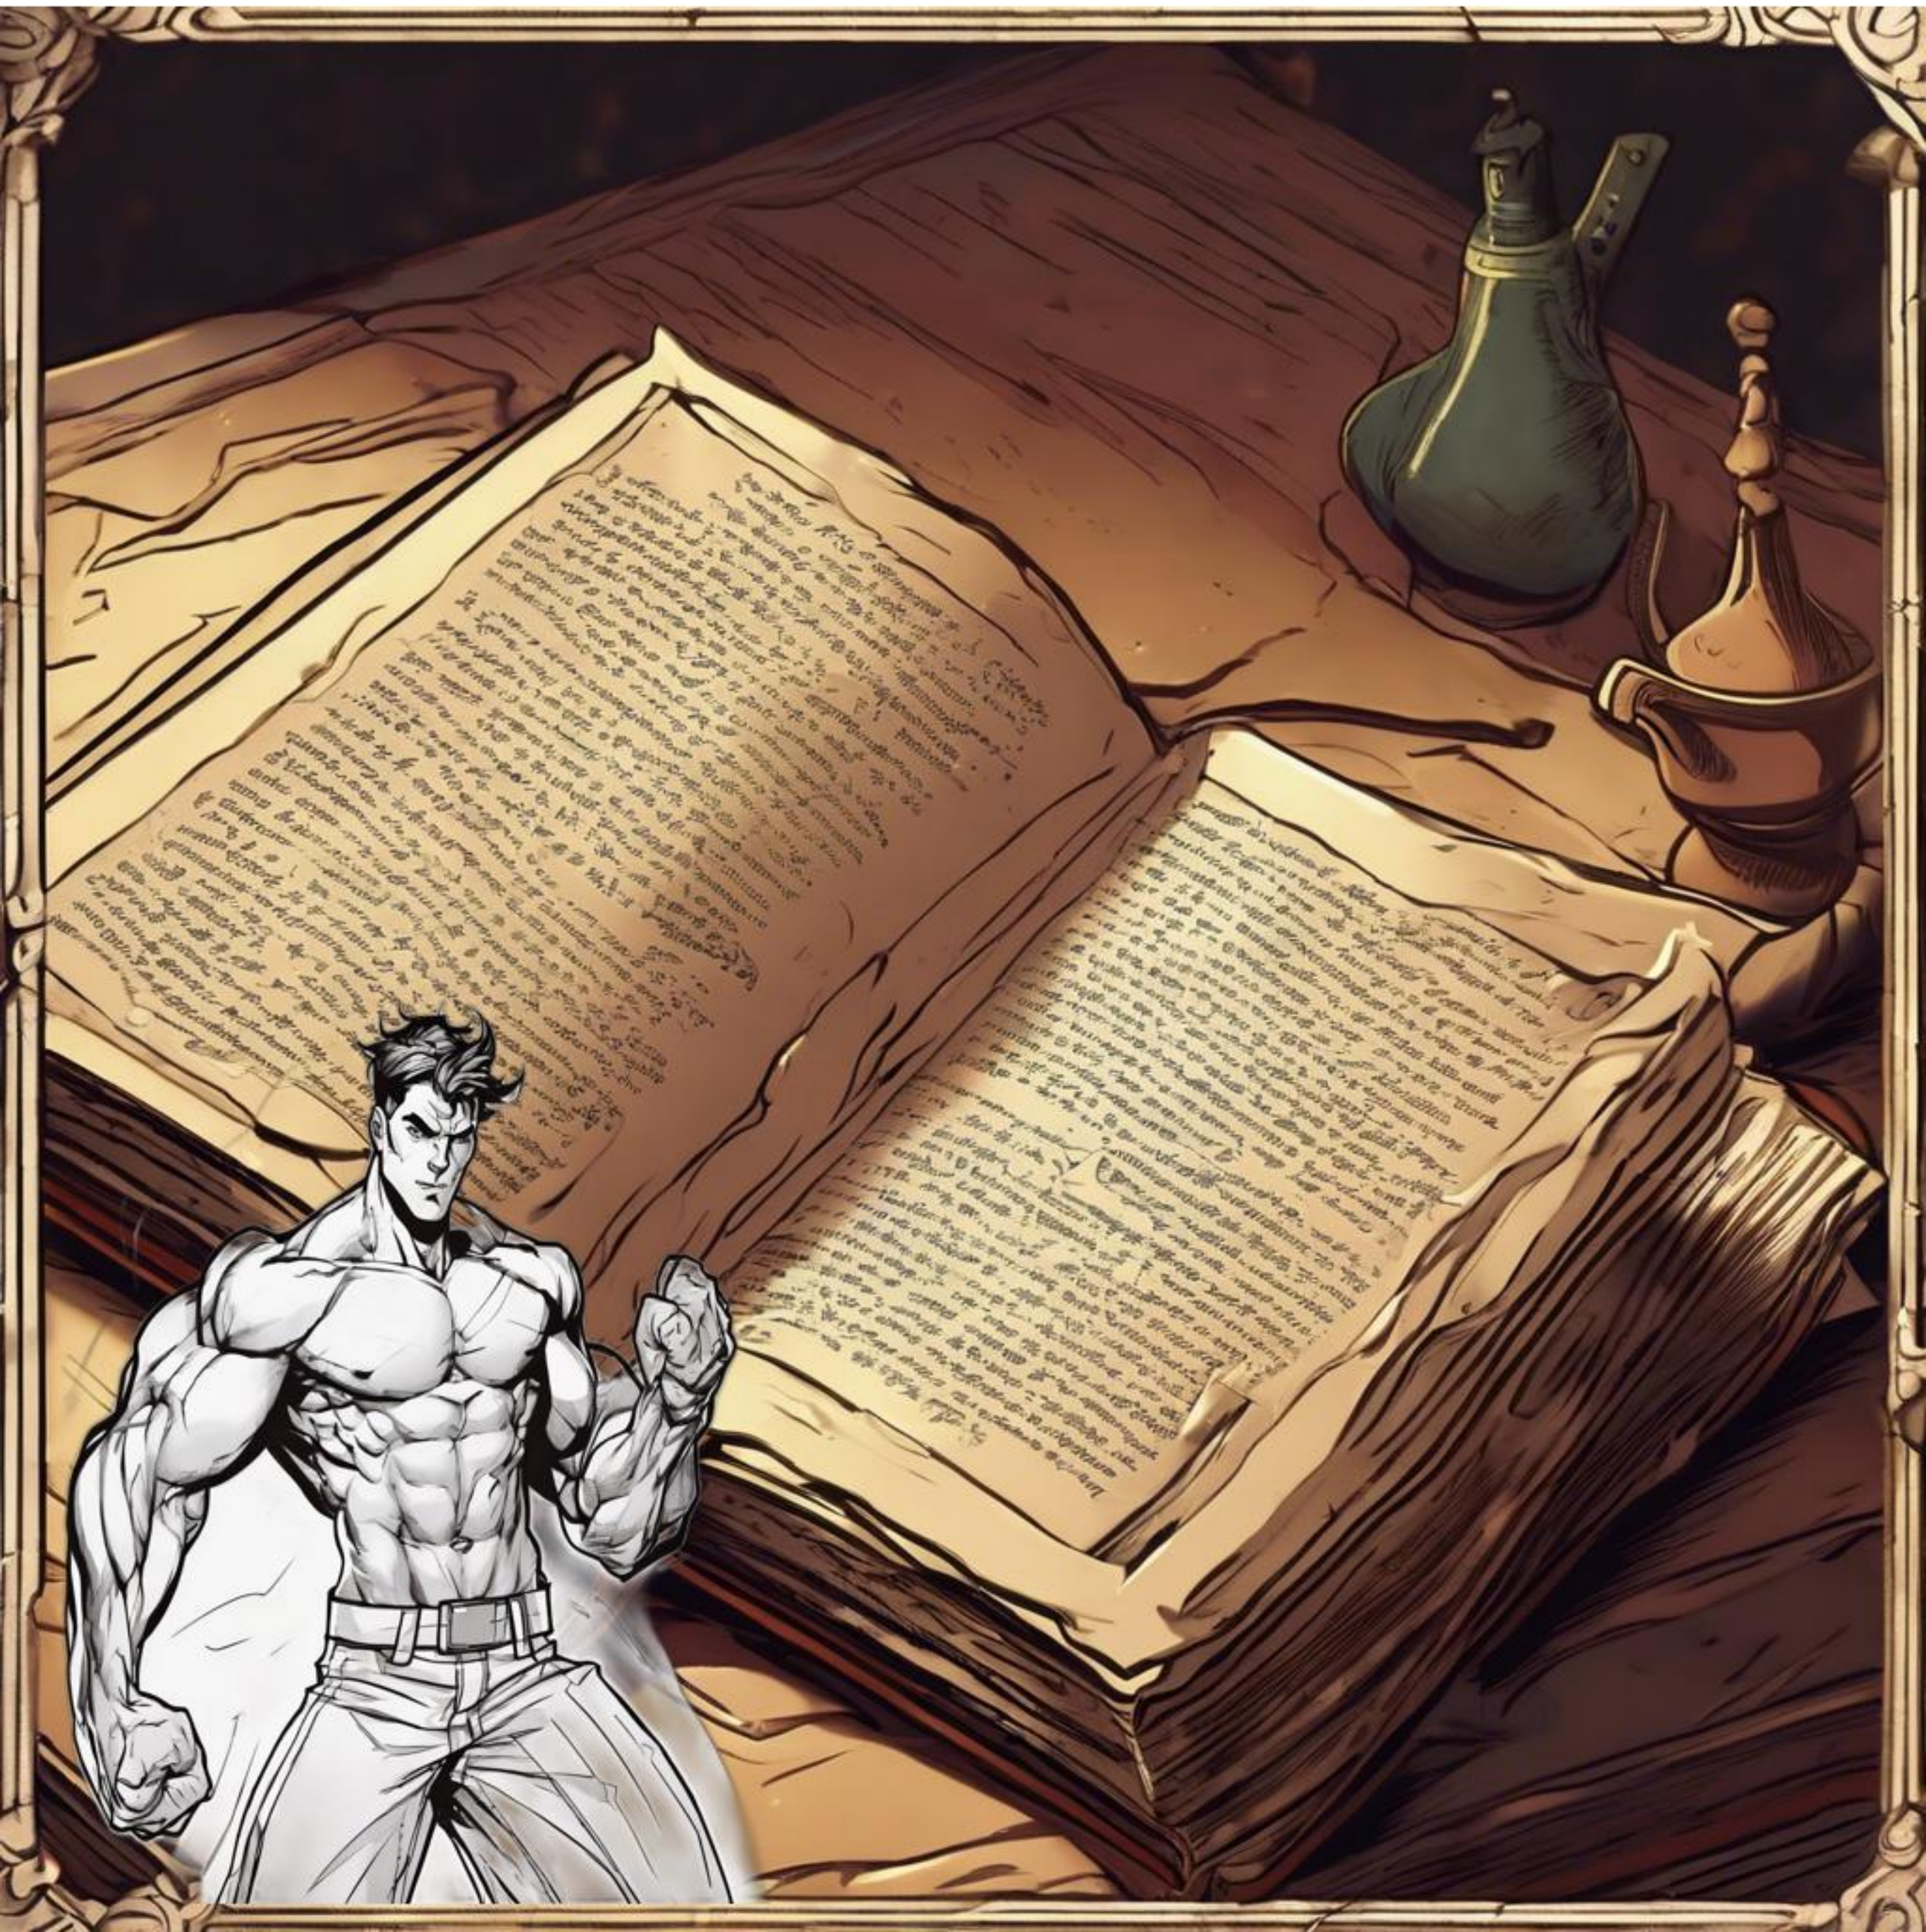

Jake is organizing a dusty corner of his shop, where he stumbles upon a mysterious book.

Jake finds a strange, leather-bound book with no title, sparking his curiosity.

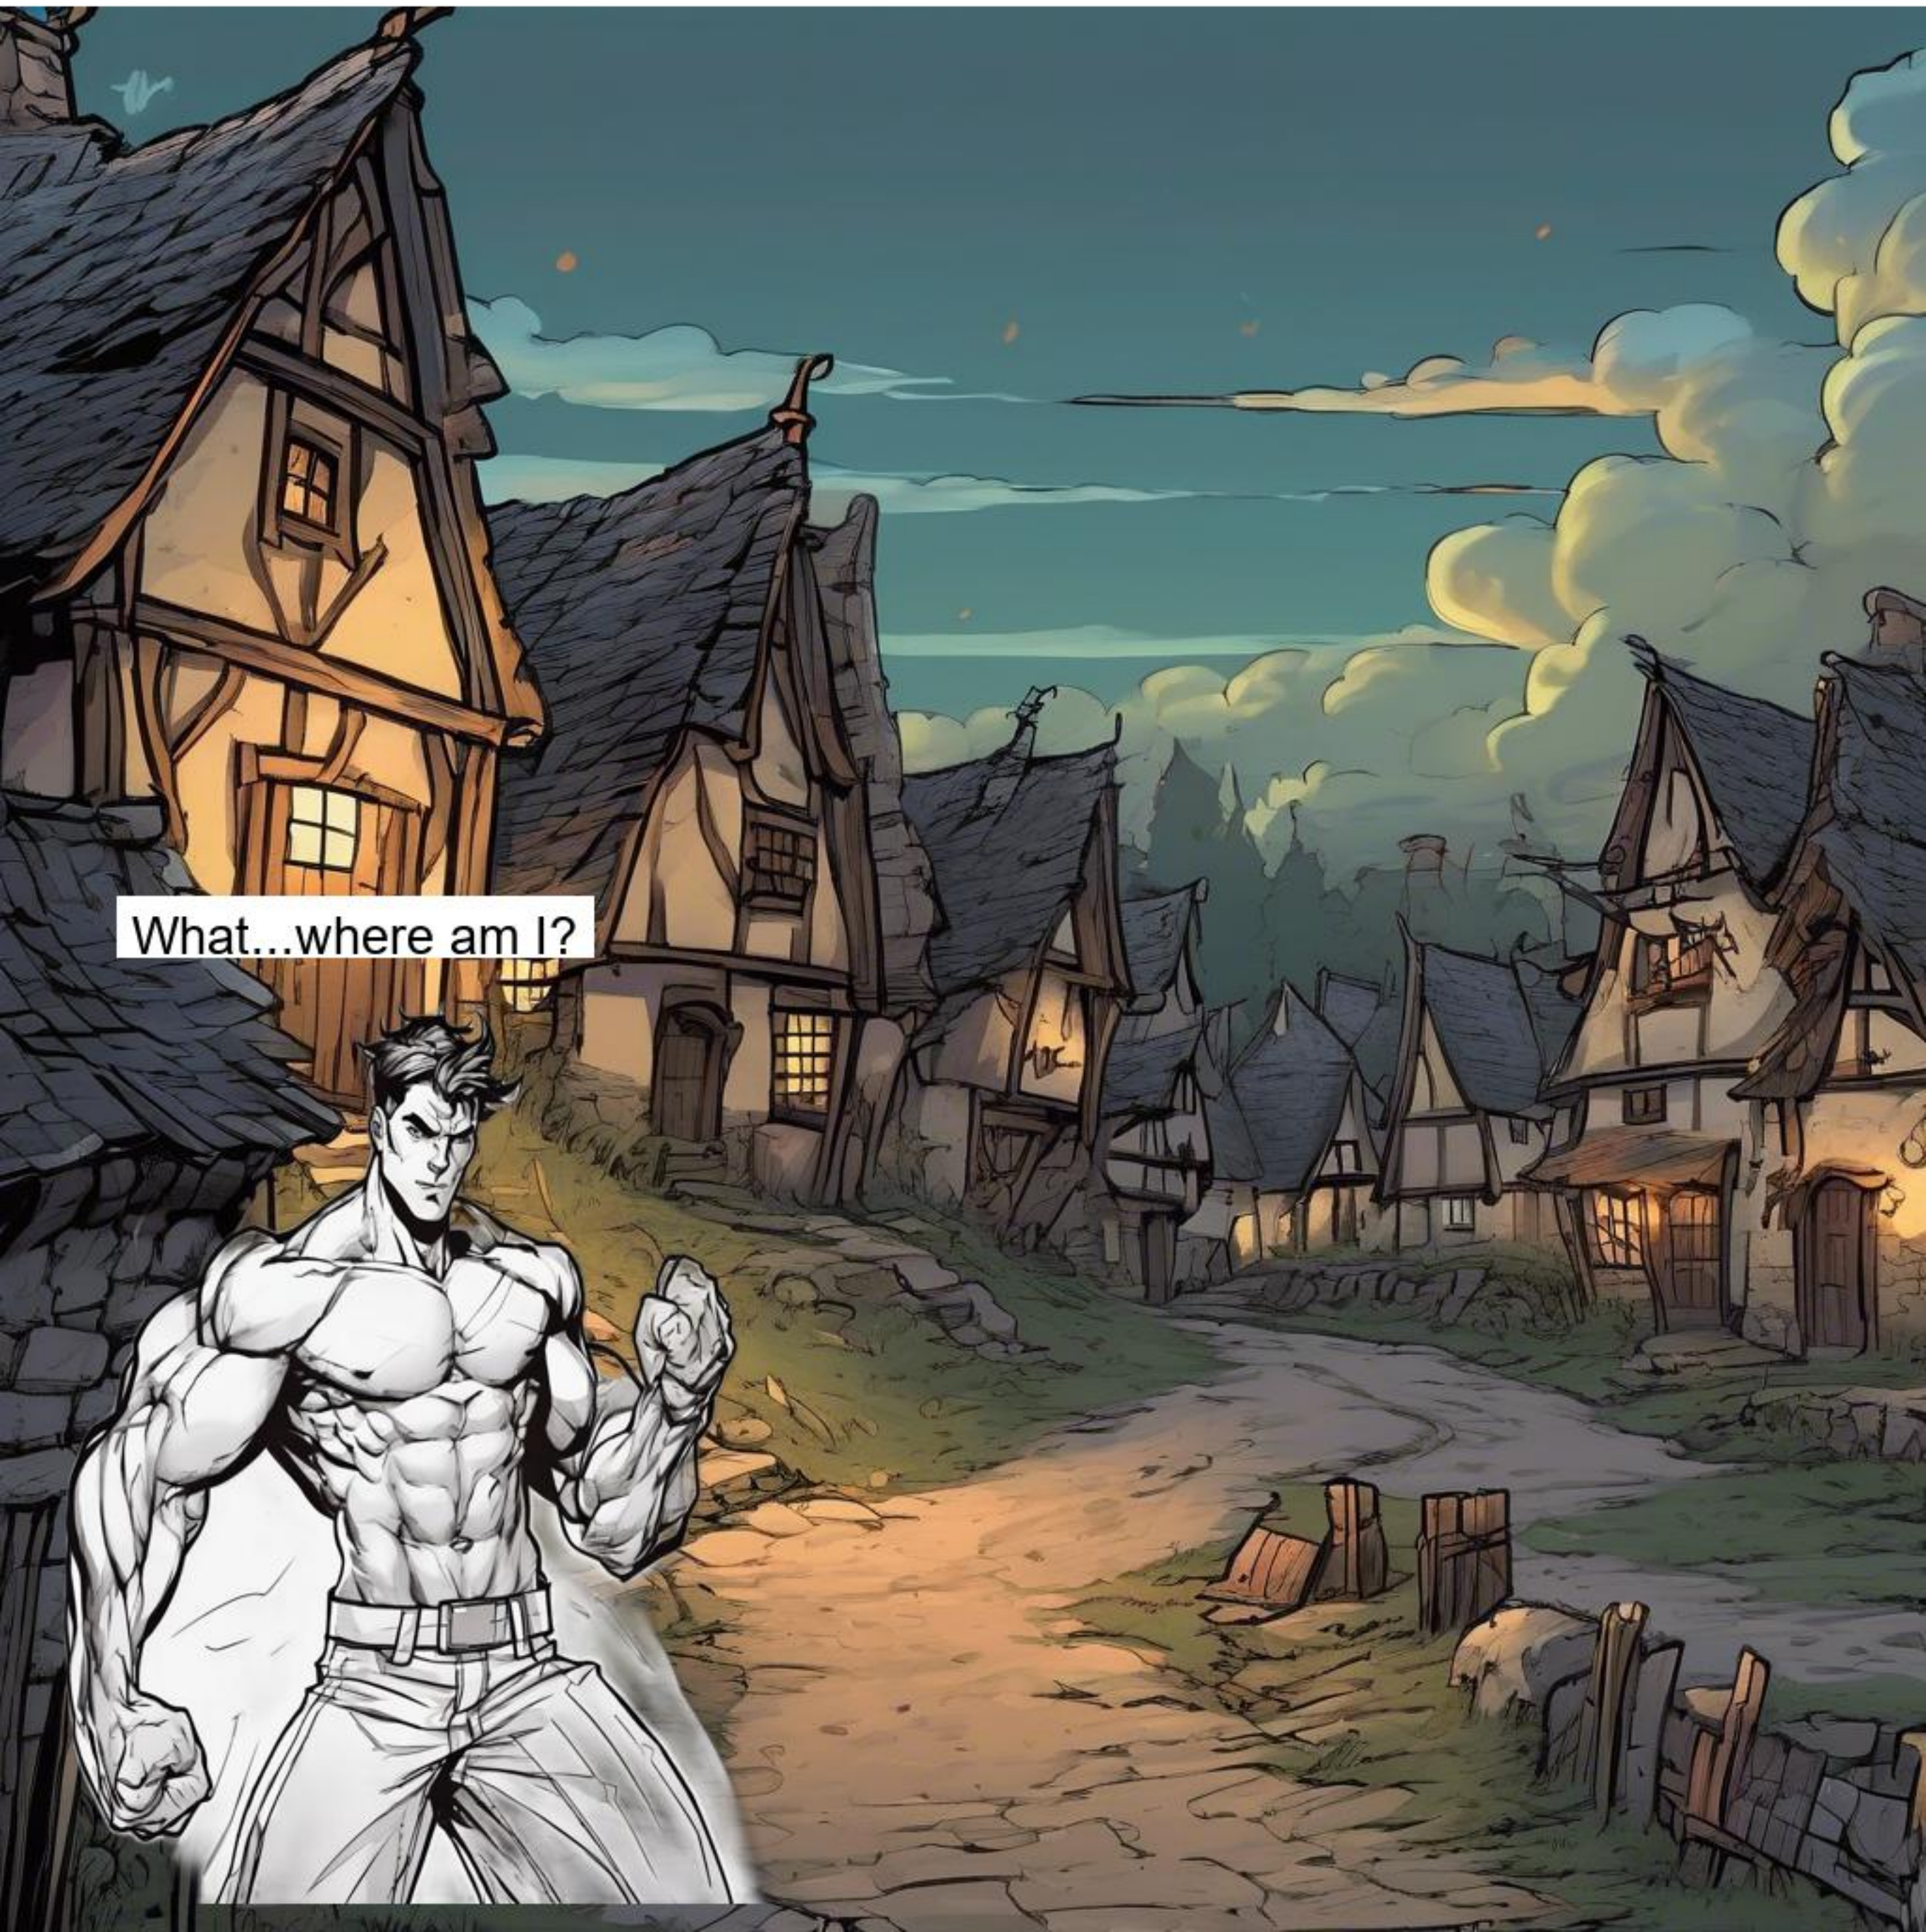

As Jake opens the mysterious book, the words on the pages rearrange themselves, and the shop around him begins to disappear.

Jake finds himself transported into a medieval village, where he must navigate a new and unfamiliar world.

What...where am I?

The village is threatened by a shadowy beast, and Jake must decide how to proceed to find his way back to reality.

A shadowy beast...I have to do something.

